Business was on the defense from the outset and did not make many attempts to shoot baskets until the latter part of the second half. But the Stenographers had few open shots for the basket, for Central had the Business forwards covered. In the second half Business registered three baskets from the floor, two by Schneider and one by Fegan and Mike Raedy's free toss brought the Stenographers' total up to 12. Central played the short passing game during the second half, and took things easy, holding the Stenographers in check. Solomon and Capt. Daly were all over the only caged one of nine attempts. The line-up and summary:

Players Are Stung Again.

New York, Feb. 8.—Baseball club owners are sending out a new set of documents to their players which will be as welcome as contracts to play ball. They are income tax blanks and there are few if any play-ers in the major leagues that will not have to pay a part of their incomes to Uncle Sam. The statem that must be filed may for the first time give an accurate idea of the salaries some of the stars are paid sailaries some of the sails are paid and it is expected that some reported big salaries will be found to have shrunk greatly. Under the law every club owner, as an employer, must list his players with the salary each is paid.

MAYER AGREES TO CUT.

Phillies' Pitcher Signs at Reduced Salary and Makes No Kick.

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.-Mayer agreed to a cut in salary as the pitcher placed his name to a contract for 1918 here yesterday and did so at a substantial cut from last year's pay. Mayer made no kick and says he will go South with the team next month. Mayer has not been pitching very successfully for several seasons. There doesn't seem to be much the matter with his arm, but he has gained the reputation of being one of the most consistent hard luck twirlers in the league. If fate will only switch on him Mayer ought to be one of the best men on Moran's staff next season.

But it is extremely doubtful if any man could hit a line harder than l'ed Coy. Tackles, guards and defensive halfbacks who have got in his way all give him the leading vote. Coy ran with terrific power. He was harder than an aurochs bull to overthrow. He landed with crashing effect, and only the stoutest sort of resistance could hold him in check. He may have had his superior at this peculiarly gentle and delicate art, but no man who ever tried to stop the old Yale star will well entitled to be classed as clever tried to stop the old Yale star will well entitled to be classed as clever Heston and Salmon were among the great line smashing stars of the West. Heston was a fine broken field runner, but with his ability to start at top speed and his unusual leg power he could also tear into a set of forwards with demoishing effect. Salmon, of with demolishing effect. Salmon, of Notre Dame, was another who could fight his way along with any sort of help. The list is too long to be given in full, but it is very doubtful that any four men had it on Coy, McCor-mick, Heston and Salmon for all-around line plunging worth.
